Controversy On Some Occupation Zones In Germany

France Seeks Control Of Frankfurt And Cologne It Is Disclosed

DEFINITE ZONES BEING DETERMINED

By WILLIAM E. ZIMMERMAN
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Disagreement over whether France shall have control over the German cities of Frankfurt and Cologne was revealed today as the cause of delay in announcing definite boundaries of the four zones of German occupation.

The plan revealed for postwar control of Germany by the United States, Great Britain, Russia and France spoke in only general terms of the four zones.

Reason for failure to draw actual boundary lines was that the British and American governments had failed to persuade France that Cologne should be in the British zone and Frankfurt in the American zone.

New Castle High School Class Of 324 Members Given Diplomas Tuesday

"Go the long way of higher schooling towards earning a livelihood" and "take the long road of justice and loving kindness in dealing with social problems," Dr. E. Marcelus Nesbitt, pastor of the First U. P. church of Beaver, told the graduating class of New Castle senior high school at commencement exercises at the Scottish Rite Cathedral Tuesday evening.

Discusses Short Cuts
Dr. Nesbitt's topic was "Short Cuts" and he told the class that while there are short cuts in life that are good, there are the exceptions that prove the rule and that he wanted to warn them of the dangers of shortcuts. He cited the historic instances of Hannibal and Hamlet in their conquest of Rome.

Tokyo Newspaper Fears Early Mainland Invasion

(International News Service)

The possibility of an early direct invasion of the Japanese mainland was admitted today by the Tokyo newspaper Yomiuri Hosi, which conceded that Okinawa had been reduced strategically by American assault to the position of an "isolated island."

Significant Moves
The present course of military developments on the main Okinawa island, coupled with the recently intensified enemy air raids on Japanese cities, is considered unquestionably significant of a direct invasion attempt against the Japanese mainland and that will be made in the near future, Yomiuri Hosi said.

The editorial statement of the Tokyo newspaper was transmitted by the Jap Domei agency in a wireless dispatch recorded by the FCC. The editorial by Yomiuri Hosi (Continued on Page Two)

Kobe Is Still Under Clouds Of Dense Smoke

Reports Indicate Devastating Fires Rage In Port Facilities After B-29 Raid

By KENNETH McCALIB
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

GUAM Dense clouds of smoke blanketed Kobe's waterfront and highly industrialized areas today, some 24 hours after up to 500 B-29s dealt Japan's largest port its heaviest raid.

Preliminary reports by aerial observers and reconnaissance photographs indicated that devastating fires were set in the city. Nippon's sixth largest. Confagurations raged among shipping and transportation facilities of the port which exported 40 per cent of the empire's export-import trade.

Eight Superforts Lost
Although surface winds in the target area were light, a prime factor in effecting extensive ruin was the intense concentration of the fire-setting missiles. More than 3,000 tons of incendiaries were cascaded down upon the objectives.

Headquarters of the 21st bomber command said that all indications pointed to a "success" attack but this probably would be considered an understatement by Kobe's industrialists as they dug their way out of the devastation sown among the city's war plants, judging from strike photos available at Guam.

The raid, staged in mid-morning, resulted in the loss of eight Superforts.

Jap Report Says New Bomb Raids On Home Island

(BULLETIN)

NEW YORK, June 6.—(INS)—A new raid on the southern part of the Jap home island of Kyushu by allied planes was reported by the Domei agency.

The wireless dispatch, recorded by the FCC, said an hour-long assault was carried out by "about 30" planes of the "smaller type." The planes, Domei said, apparently came from Okinawa base.

Yanks Advance Through Valley In Luzon Battle

Jap Forces Being Pushed Back From Prepared Defense Positions

BOMBERS IN NEW FORMOSA RAIDS

By LEE VAN ALTA
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

MANILA, June 6.—(INS)—Gen. Robert H. Beightler's 17th Air Force division slashed through the upper part of Luzon's Cagayan valley today after capturing Atitlan in a six-mile drive from American-held San Jose.

Moving up through the valley with heavy aerial support, the 33rd seized numerous long-prepared defense positions that had been abandoned by the Japanese as far as ten miles inside the valley.

Flanking Escape Port

Beightler's long gain and a simultaneous advance toward Tapan for 33rd division, doubtless pushing north from Baguio gave impetus to a developing flanking and frontal assault on April, Jap escape and supply port on the north end of the island.

In addition, enemy abandoned positions taken in the valley six days ago were destroyed Sunday and Monday as the 33rd engaged in a six-mile drive from American-held San Jose.

Frontline commanders on Luzon as well as on Mindanao reported that Japanese forces were being driven back from prepared positions in the face of strong ground and pressure exerted by dive bombers and fighters.

Tighten Mindanao Grip

Gen. Beightler's 17th Air Force division today reported that it had captured a Japanese air base on Mindanao, 11 miles northwest of Davao.

A five-mile drive northwest of Mintal wedged the Japs farther back into the Mindanao hills as the 17th captured a Japanese air base on Mindanao, 11 miles northwest of Davao.

Upwards of 100 Jap air force bombers again, based on a strike hard at the enemy's building, barracks and warehouse as it despite adverse weather conditions endeavored to hit the target.

Luzon's tactics, based over the last few days, have been to capture Jap-held bases and heavily damaged Jap-held bases caught in the Cagayan-Hong Kong area while other raids were carried out against enemy airfields, supply bases and outposts on Borneo, the Celebes, Hainan and Timor.

Ellwood City And Volant In 'E' Bond Lead

New Castle citizens may be interested to learn that Ellwood City, Pa., has sold more "E" bonds in the seventh war loan campaign than has New Castle.

They may also be interested in the fact that little Volant has doubled its quota of "E" bonds and is now starting on a triple header. These facts were made known today by the war finance commission of that county.

Both Ellwood City and Volant have been among the leaders in all war bond campaigns. Ellwood City has usually finished its quota among the first in the state and again this time it has passed its quota and is working on a double header. New Castle is far below what it should be in the sales of "E" and individual bonds.

Strong Navy And Air Force Must Be Maintained

ABOARD ADMIRAL INGRAMS FLAGSHIP AT AN EAST COAST PORT, June 6.—(INS)—What the United States must have, now during the postwar period and forever after, is a strong, well-balanced Navy and air force.

That is the conviction of Admiral Jonas H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the United States Atlantic Fleet, who vigorously pointed out:

"If we go back to any idealistic system of cutting down our armed forces we're going to find ourselves in the same position as at the beginning of this war."

We scrapped the biggest navy in the world after the last war. I have no patience with any idealistic ideas that the United States should not have a strong, well-balanced navy and air force.

A strong and well-run Merchant Marine also is necessary. To have foreign trade you've got to have bottom to put it in.

It's false economy not to support and maintain a well-sized up-to-date navy. It's a very short-sighted policy to do less.

D-DAY ANNIVERSARY

TODAY is an anniversary which will go down in American textbooks as marking the turning point of World War II.

For it was June 6, 1944, when history's greatest invasion force, spearheaded by America's valiant First, Fourth and 29th Infantry Divisions and the 82nd and 101st Airborne Divisions, first assaulted Hitler's boasted fortress Europe.

At the year that has passed since that portentous dawn the names of American soldiers who have been added to the long list of battlefields where Americans have fought in the name of liberty—like Lexington, Bunker Hill, Yorktown, Gettysburg, San Juan Hill, the Meuse-Argonne, Vimy Ridge.

And to the long list of American cemeteries in foreign lands have been added Riverside, St. Mere and Eglise—European last resting places of hundreds of thousands of American soldiers who will not come back.

The course of history in that short 12 months has been diverted from the paths into which despots had chartered them.

Germany is no longer a country, but a conquered territory governed jointly by representatives of the United States, Great Britain, France and Russia. In the Pacific the ambitious Japanese have been driven back and now face early defeat.

V-E Day has come and gone and V-J Day approaches—the final climax of the world's most costly travail.

Growing Feeling Argentina Action Taken Too Speedily

WASHINGTON, June 6.—(INS)—A growing feeling existed in Washington today that the move to end American relations with Argentina had over-reached and was being pushed into the hands of Executive committees in that country.

It was a feeling that the move would have been better had it been made in a more deliberate fashion, and that the Argentine government had been given too little time to make its position clear.

The American Republics could not be expected to act on a basis of recognizing Argentina, but would have withheld full cooperation until a trial period had passed.

In practically every quarter of Washington, this feeling prevailed.

A close associate of Nelson Rockefeller, assistant secretary of state who put across the Argentine legislation at San Francisco said today that Rockefeller was "troubled."

President Truman has said he was "not very happy" about the Argentine situation.

This feeling is sharpened by reports from Buenos Aires that the government of Gen. Edelmiro Farrell is taking advantage of a temporary freedom of action to impose fresh restrictions on personal liberty.

Rev. Jones' talk accompanied the showing of a sound technician film, "Land of Promise." His talk pertained to the film showing, and was well received by the group.

Afterwards the group enjoyed a social period, and refreshments were served.

now be reached at the "top level" with Harry Hopkins, President Truman's emissary, dealing directly with Marshal Stalin at the Kremlin.

While there is concern over the move involved in constantly checking back to Moscow for final decisions, American authorities are quite willing to take the necessary time if it will mean agreement on a workable security charter. That said, they insist, is more precious than another week or two of time spent in San Francisco.

Denmark Invited
Actually, they point out, time is the only concession the United States had made to the Soviets—contrary to a reported popular impression that the American delegation has "backed down" before Russia on substantive portions of the charter.

Meanwhile, Denmark was formally invited to become the 30th member of the United Nations, and today was expected to respond from Copenhagen with her formal acceptance.

Denmark's admission came while there was still ample work ahead in addition to the task of solving the veto riddle.

"See that no one gets off the job. If you can't do war work, buy bonds."

Plan To Expedite Casualty Reports From Pacific Area

The British radio, according to NBC, said that the day had been proclaimed a general holiday for all Allied forces in Europe by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. Troops in Britain, it was said, will work on a Sunday schedule to permit as many as possible to take the day off.

Singled out for special honors were the United States Fifth and Sixth Engineer special brigades who fought their way up Omaha and Utah beaches on D-Day and cleared the German-planted mines, blasted shore obstructions and filled Nazi tank traps.

Each brigade which took part in the drive which started a steady stream of supplies pouring across the landing beaches against the withering German fire will receive the French Croix de Guerre with palm. The honor was conferred by special order of French provisional president, Charles de Gaulle.

Many members of these brigades, including Lieut. Gen. William Hoge who commanded the Fifth and Sixth brigades, today are in action in the Pacific on Okinawa.

S-Sgt. Clyde Reed Killed In Action

Beech Avenue Soldier, Formerly Reported Missing, Is Killed In Germany

Word has been received here from the war department that S-Sgt. Clyde M. Reed, who was previously reported missing in action on April 17, was killed in action on that day in Germany.

S-Sgt. Reed, son of Carl C. Reed of 23 Beech avenue, and the late Nellie M. Reed, was born in New Castle on October 30, 1912. He was a member of the First Methodist church.

He had been in service three years in February and had been overseas since last February. He was attached to the infantry of the 100th Central Postal Directory.

Survivors in addition to his father include his wife, Marie Matthews Reed of this city, a daughter, Roberta Reed, two brothers, J. W. Reed, Pvt. Clam W. Reed, stationed at Fort McClellan, Ala., and Robert M. Reed at home, and his grandfather, Andrew J. McKay of Darlington.

More Deferred Men To Report For Draft Calls

WASHINGTON, June 6. (INS)—Some 60,000 men in the 26 through 29 age group who now hold occupational deferments today reportedly were scheduled for draft call during August and September.

The inter-agency committee on draft deferments will not request "exemptions" for these 60,000 men thus enabling the current military quotas of 90,000 per month to be filled, it was learned.

It was pointed out that the action was necessitated by a selective service ruling which exempted men over 30 years of age from military duty provided they are "regularly engaged in war work."

Workers 65 Or Over Urged To File Claim

Retirement Benefits Not Retroactive, Social Security Manager Reminds

With cut-backs in ship and plane construction now being felt in some areas, Edward J. Sinder, manager of the Social Security Board office in New Castle, urged all men and women over 65 who have been employed in offices, factories, shops or other places of business or industry to contact the nearest Social Security Board field office, whether or not they intend to retire.

Suppose, for instance, Mr. Sinder said, a worker 65 or older, who has worked long enough to qualify for social security benefits, is laid off because of a cut-back in his employer's work. If his wages are reduced or he becomes unemployed, it would be to his advantage to file immediately for retirement benefits. It might be several months before the unemployed or laid-off worker over 65 becomes re-employed, and he may lose several months of old-age and survivors insurance. Retirement benefits are not retroactive. The filing of a claim does not prevent the worker from returning to work.

If a wife of a beneficiary, over 65, she too should make application for monthly retirement benefits when her husband files. Mr. Sinder added, Monthly benefits are due her and to any qualified dependents. If it then is dependent on their parents.

Differs From State Benefits.

Federal old-age and survivors insurance is not the same thing as state unemployment insurance benefits. Mr. Sinder explained, Unemployment insurance benefits are paid to the qualified worker from the state unemployment insurance agency. Old-age benefits come to an insured worker 65 and over under the old-age and survivors insurance program. In both cases applications must be filed.

To make sure that a worker has all the retirement benefits that he may be entitled to, he should get in touch with the nearest Social Security Board office.

We must meet this challenge in the Mighty Seventh

We're on the road to victory—no doubt about it.

But it's a long, hard road still to be traveled—a path to peace built on the sacrifices of our fighting men and the single-hearted devotion of all of us at home.

Our soldiers, sailors and marines will do their part, but think of it—every bullet, every drop of gasoline, all the vast equipment of war must be transported over thousands of miles to fill their needs.

More of everything will be needed.

More B-29's, more tanks, half-tracks, jeeps and trucks, more rockets, mortars, airborne radar.

A whole new air force is in creation—huge new bombers dwarfing the superfortress—fast new jet-propelled combat planes, the P-80 or "Shooting Star," coming off the lines by thousands.

It's up to us to help pay for those things our armed forces need—and that's why we must put over the mighty Seventh War Loan.

This is your biggest assignment ever! There will be one less War Bond Drive this year, which is why we must lend more, now.

In the box (right) you'll find the amount you must lend to do your share in making the SEVENTH a smashing success. Today, make arrangements to meet your quota—it's big, but it's your duty...and it is vitally important. Remember, in buying War Bonds, you are not giving—you are making the safest investment in the world!

Don't fail your fighting men—don't let your country down.

Buy your quota or more—get behind the mighty Seventh War Loan!

Birth, Death Rate Both At Peak In 1943; Are Now On Decline, Report Shows

By JAMES H. SMITH
(Written Especially for N. S.)
HARRISBURG, June 6.—Pennsylvania's birth and death rates, both of which reached a peak in 1943, were reported on a decline today by the State Health Department.

George E. Greenwood, director of the Bureau of Vital Statistics, said approximately 183,000 babies were born in the Commonwealth last year compared with 205,092 in 1943. Greenwood disclosed 107,182 persons died in Pennsylvania during 1944 compared to 115,462 deaths the previous year.

Two Babies for Every Death
During the first three years after Pearl Harbor, nearly two babies were born in the Commonwealth for every death. Approximately 600,000 infants entered the world in the three-year period while about 330,000 persons died, he reported.

While the number of births during 1944 were about 21,700 less than the previous year, it was 3000 more than 1941 when inductions into the armed forces were accelerated.

The number of deaths in the Commonwealth last year was about 1300 less than in pre-war 1941 and up approximately 2300 under the 109,688 registered in 1942.

Heart disease claimed the lives of 34,303 persons last year and 12,857 Pennsylvanians died of cancer, Greenwood said. He pointed out that in 1943, heart disease claimed 37,330 lives while 13,723 others were cancer victims.

The bureau receives birth and death reports from 725 local registrars and has district offices at Philadelphia, Scranton, Erie and Philadelphia.

Registrars, in cases of births, return certificates to mothers 24 hours after registration so that parents may check them for inaccuracies, Greenwood said.

Seek To Refute Testimony Aimed At Joseph Medley

Defense Lawyers Seek To Refute
Evidence Bullets From Med-
ley's Gun Killed Woman

WASHINGTON, June 6.—(INS)—Attorneys for Joseph D. Medley, on trial for the murder of Mrs. Navy Boyer today are expected to try to break down testimony of the prosecution's firearms experts and build up their own contention that the Washington woman was slain by someone who threatened her before she met the former auto salesman.

It was believed that James K. and Denny Hughes, the two brothers defending Medley, might call Inspector John Fowler, police department ballistics expert, in an attempt to knock down the contention that bullets allegedly taken from Medley's gun bore the same firing marks as those found in Mrs. Boyer's brain.

M. E. Williams, laboratory expert of the FBI, testified that it would be necessary to file certain types of 38 caliber pistol bullets to make them fit the chamber of a gun such as the one found in Medley's St. Louis hotel room.

The defense presented eight witnesses, including a relative who admitted that Mrs. Boyer had not had an income for the past two years despite her expensive living habits and a negro maid who recalled that "Nancy was afraid of someone."

The maid quoted Mrs. Boyer as saying: "I have a new boy friend. I am afraid for my life."

Therefore, you must increase the flow of this digestive juice. Carter's Little

Further Insight Into Conditions In Germany

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
U.S. Staff Correspondent

INSIDE CONQUERED GERMANY June 6—You can drive into most of the battered cities of Germany today and you can't buy a handkerchief, you can't check in at a hotel like in normal times, and you don't eat unless you've brought your food along or are authorized to eat at an Allied army mess.

For in most cities of Germany the size say of Pittsburgh, Fort Worth or San Francisco, the downtown buildings are completely wrecked.

The department stores, the railroad station, the city hall, the haberdasheries, the hotels, the gasoline filling stations, the homes—they are nearly all a mass of gaping ruins and piled up debris. You can't even get a shave.

Live In Ruins

Women, children and old men pop their heads out of windows in some of the gutted buildings that are so badly smashed you wonder how anybody could live in them. You wonder, too, how those people manage to eat. You find out when you see long lines of people patiently standing in queues outside the emergency public food shops.

Except for the major industrial cities such as Cologne, Coblenz, Frankfurt, Stuttgart and the Ruhr cities which have been largely demolished by aerial and artillery bombardments, you pass through dozens and dozens of smaller towns and villages that have scarcely a window pane broken by the war.

These smaller towns are served by a network of stream-lined double-laned Reichsautobahns (super-highways) and single-striped autostrassen—a highway network more modern than you will find in any other country in Europe.

Countryside Little Affected

In the country districts the war's aftermath seems far away. The countryside of Germany, especially in the south and central parts, is beautiful with its fertile well-tilled fields and lovely-rolling country. You meet German refugees in the farm houses, mostly women and children, but they look happy and seem contented and well-fed.

The women invariably talk to you about their "man." He is either a prisoner of war or he has been killed, or is in some hospital somewhere. Mothers tell you they have lost two or three sons in the war. Most of them are stolid about this but one farm woman broke down and cried when she told of losing three sons.

As your car spins along Germany's network of autobahns—four magnificent lanes—you wonder why the Allies don't realize sooner that these great highways were primarily intended for military use. As you roll along you see an occasional sign upon which could be flashed the names of some Nazi officer informing him he should swerve off and call headquarters on the telephone.

Plenty Of Room

You wonder, too, as you look over the vast and not too populated Germany, how Hitler ever had the nerve to declaim to the world that Germany needed "lebensraum" (living space). Germany could easily handle twice its 80,000,000 population within the confines of its own borders.

Further a sign says "Unauthorized target practice carries severe penalty" and another says "Indiscriminate firing of weapons strictly forbidden."

Time and again an American jeep containing a few military police would sweep up the road in a cloud of dust.

It is that way throughout Germany. You see plenty of "M. P.'s," occasional units of engineers constructing bridges but seldom large bodies of troops.

Lions Club Hears Bond Sales Report

Interesting Color Film Depicts Eighteenth Century Life In State Of Virginia

Most of Tuesday noon's luncheon meeting of the New Castle Lions club was devoted to entertainment, an interesting color film on 18th century life in Virginia being enjoyed.

Reports were given by the chairman of the two teams engaged in bond sales in the seven war loan. Charles Ward's team reporting sales of $19,731.45, and Sam Rashid's team reporting $39,462.50.

The picture which was shown by Clarence M. England, depicted life as it existed at Williamsburg, Va., during the colonial days. The town has been restored, and the various activities of that period were depicted in the film.

Guests of the club included S-Sgt. William Olson, recently returned home on leave after a long period of convalescence in military hospitals following his being wounded in France. Others were F. W. Hoffman of Pittsburgh, W. C. Lawson of New Hartford, N. Y., D. H. Jacob of Philadelphia and C. M. Jenkins of New Castle.

Call For Extra Spurt In E-Bond Buying At Once

WASHINGTON, June 6. (INS)—The treasury department today called on the 48 state war bond children for an extra spurt in buying E-Bonds to prevent that and classification from falling short of its four billion dollar 7th war loan goal.

Tom R. Gable, national director of the treasury war bond children, said in a telegram to the state treasurers.

It is apparent at this time that despite all of our plans and hard work, few sides in E-Bonds amounting to between five and 10 per cent of our state quota must be generated if we are to make the four billion dollar national E-Bond goal.

Children's plan today announced that while sales of bonds to individuals in the 7th war loan have reached four billion 139 million dollars, or 59 per cent of the seven billion goal, E-Bond sales are still 49.8 per cent completed.

Governor Refuses To Oust Stewart

HARRISBURG, June 6. (INS)—Gov. Edward Martin announced today that Secretary of Health A. H. Stewart would be retained despite the U. S. Civil Service Commission's charge that he violated the Hatch Act-Politics Act.

The 64-year-old cabinet officer has appealed the commission's order to the U. S. Federal Court at Pittsburgh.

"I am too old and contrary and have too much Scotch-Irish in my blood to have my cabinet dictated to me," the governor declared. "In addition, Dr. Stewart has been a pioneer in health work in Pennsylvania and many of the things in the constructive health program just enacted by the legislature were the suggestions of Dr. Stewart."

Failure to dismiss Stewart, according to the Hatch law, will prompt the federal government to withhold double the amount of the official's annual salary from congressional funds allocated to the department.

Jail Sentences Given Germans

LONDON, June 6. (INS)—Allied military government officials have imposed sentences on more than 50 Germans for terms ranging up to eight months, the Lancashire radio today reported.

The broadcast said that 47 Germans in the Rhineland city of Quipptal were sent to jail for terms ranging from 15 to 30 days for violating the curfew and that one German who resisted arrest was given 60 days.

Briette Schulze, a leader in the Nazi Women's League, drew an eight-month sentence for using the Nazi salute. She pleaded guilty but attempted to excuse herself with the statement she was a victim of habit.

Report Confession In Attack On Child

CAMDEN, N. J., June 6. (INS)—A 22-year-old former sailor confessed today to the abduction and attack on a four-year-old Philadelphia girl, Detective Captain Gustave Koerner, of Camden, announced.

Koerner identified the man as Francis Furlong of Camden, who was discharged after seven months in the Navy because of neurosis.

Furlong confessed not only to the brutal attack on tiny Carol Ann Coville, police said, but also admitted attempting to lure four other small girls into his automobile.

Meanwhile, Carol Ann, who accepted a man's invitation to take a ride in his "shiny black car," was reported in serious condition at her Philadelphia home.

June Term Of Court Cancelled

All terms called for service in the June terms of criminal court were excused today when Judge W. Walter Brahm and John G. Lamerie cancelled the term for lack of cases.

In the proceedings of the grand jury there were but eight defendants, three of which are not within the jurisdiction of the court but for whom bills were presented to stay the statute of limitations. Several others have entered pleas and the balance which are triable amount to not more than two cases.

For this reason, the court decided to cancel the term and the next term of criminal court will be held in September.

Without Clue In Mystery Slaying

New York Police Question 100 In Slaying Of Wealthy Albert E. Langford

NEW YORK, June 6 (INS)—The combing of New York's cafe society and the questioning of nearly 100 persons left police today without a single clue to the mysterious murder of wealthy Albert E. Langford, 63, textile and leather executive, in his Oran Park avenue apartment.

Not even a motive had been uncovered after detectives visited night clubs throughout the night and questioned acquaintances of Langford and his wife, including Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, stage beauty of the early 1900s who was the central figure of the slaying of noted architect Stanford White.

None of those quizzed many of them leaders in night club society and art and music circles, could shed the slightest light on why two unknown men called at the Langford apartment in the fashionable Marguery hotel Monday night and left Langford dead a bullet wound in his head after he refused to admit them.

Awards Day At Washington Has Many Features

Assembly Marked By Farewell Of Mr. Thacker—Presentation Of Portrait Of Dr. Green

Much more than the usual awards day assembly, the program in the auditorium of the George Washington Junior High School Tuesday afternoon was the last assembly at which George K. Thacker, retiring principal, will preside, and was also the occasion for the unveiling of a portrait of Dr. C. C. Green, former principal of the school.

American Legion Awards
American Legion awards for the year 1944-45 were presented to students of the school by Mr. Thacker. The awards were presented to the following students: ...

The portrait of Dr. Green was a gift of the students to the school and was placed in the hall along with the portrait of Mr. Thacker which was placed there last year.

As a farewell gift, the seventh eighth and ninth grades gave to Mr. Thacker a large, beautifully bound book as an expression of their regret at seeing him leave. During the program, the new principal of the school, Miss Natalie Micheltree, was introduced to the students by Mr. Thacker. Miss Micheltree has been serving in the same position at Mahoning school for a number of years.

Scholastic Awards
Eighty-four junior students also had their part in Tuesday's program when they received their orange and black school letters as recognition of their superior work during the past semester. Those who received these awards are: ...

Presenting the awards of these students were an instrumental group composed of Don Levine, Tom Wingo, and Lois Baum, played selections from Victor Herbert's "Nathan's Matilda".

Eighteen track letters were given out by Coach Arthur Alexander, along with letters for the 9-1 basketball team which won the intramural championship this season.

LENGTHY local and long distance telephone conversations make it tough for the other fellow these days. There just isn't enough central office equipment to let everyone talk to his heart's content. But our shortage of equipment is our Armed Forces' gain, for the peace-time producers of telephone equipment have done miracles in war-production....Please keep all calls brief.
